"Shifting Our Teaching"

Hello Parents! Happy Thanksgiving! We are continuing our discussion on Shifting our way of teaching.

Last month we looked at "S" which is Seizing every opportunity with our kids to instill principles of Christ in their lives. I pray that you all have had opportunities to do so.

This month, we are going to look at "H". Holistic approach. Having a holistic approach means that everything we do has the Kingdom in mind. Of course, you might say, "What does Johnny's football practice or Jenny's gymnastics have to do with the Kingdom?" This approach forces us as parents to realize the implications of everything our children do. It doesn't allow us to compartmentalize our lives.

"What does Johnny's football practice and Jenny's gymnastics have to do with the Kingdom?"

Scribble from Seth

It is so easy to separate our "church" lives and our "weekday" lives, partly because we don't realize the Kingdom implications. This approach, when practiced, will show us that everything from football to band to 4-H has Kingdom implications.

Jesus walked among the people and met the people where they were, in their daily lives. How awesome would it be if people met Jesus, through us, in our daily lives? And, if our children witnessed that in our lives, they will be more apt to apply that approach in theirs.

Seth

FIXED Student Ministries is about...

...providing essential Biblical teaching that will encourage, enrich, and enhance the lives of our youth.

“The goal that I have is to prepare youth for the challenges the world will throw at them once they leave the walls of the church. Most students fall away from church once they graduate. We hope and pray that through our program and their involvement, the youth will be prepared to face the world around them.”
